BRODHEAD.

The two-months old boy baby of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Proctor died and was buried in the Baptist church yard Monday. Mrs. Proctor was Miss Erma Tharp.—Hermion Frith who has been very sick for several days with rheumatism is some better but unable to sit up.—Rev. here Tuesday in the case of Matt Stevens suing Nelson Messer for obstructing public passway, Messer was fined $27.50. On Wednesday in same court John Roberts and sons, Charley, Luther and Clarena were tried and held over in the sum of $250.00 each, excepting Clarena Roberts, awaiting the action of the Grand Jury for assaulting Oscar Spoonamore last Saturday. It seems that on last Friday Clarena Roberts, who is 12 years old was trying to get two children of Arch Brown's to fight when Spoonamore interfered causing the Roberts boy to use some very ugly talk whereupon Spoonamore threatened to paddle him if he continued the talk. Young Roberts ran home and told his parents that Spoonamore attempted to whip him. This irritated the father and two brothers so much that on Saturday they all fell upon Spoonamore but were beaten off. One of the boys used a knife cutting two ugly gashes in Spoonamore's back and otherwise bruised him up considerably. County Attorney Sam Lewis came down and prosecuted and C. C. Williams defended the case.

—In the last few nights there has been a great deal of stealing going on near here, cars have been broken open and robbed, depots have been robbed; but at present we will not give any names as some of the parties have not been arrested yet, and have been asked to hold our peace for a spell until the hand of the law could fasten on them. But we will have this to say: Parents will have a great deal to answer for in the way they let their children go. You can come into Livingston at almost any hour in the night and you will find gangs of boys from the age of 12 to 16 prowling all over town when they should be under their parent's roof. But instead they are in all sorts of bad company, and parents you are to blame

ANNOUNCEMENT.

We are authorized to announce G. M. BALLARD as a candidate for Representative of Rockcastle and Laurel counties subject to the action of the Republican party.

We are authorized to announce R. G. WEBB, as a candidate for Representative of Rockcastle and Laurel counties, subject to the action of the Republican party.

We are authorized to announce E. B. Thompson as a candidate for Representative of Rockcastle and Laurel counties, subject to the action of the Republican party.

Special from Washington says:

"The Supreme Court, Justice Lurton rendering the opinion, today dismissed with costs the case of Charles Richardson, plaintiff in error, vs. Secretary of State H. V. McChesney. This case was an attack upon the validity of the apportionment act of March 12, 1900 and certain amendments thereto.

The averment of the bill was districts are grossly an unnecessary unequal in population.

The Supreme Court does not pass upon the validity of the act. It dismisses the bill because the thing McChesney was to be prohibited from doing related to the election of November, 1908, long since held.

The court says: "The thing sought to be prevented has been done and cannot be undone by any judicial action. Under such circumstances there is nothing but a moot case. The duty of the court is limited to the decision of actual controversies; it should not pronounce judgement upon abstract questions however such opinions might influence further action in like circumstances."

This ingloriously ends the effort to knock out the so-called 1900 gerrymander.

Judicial proceedings were begun by Republicans in Kentucky in 1907 to test the alleged "gerrymander" of the State for Congressional election purposes. Charles Richardson, in the Fourth Congressional district, filed a suit asking that the Secretary of State and his successor be enjoined from printing on the official ballots in 1908, the names of certain candidates for Congress.

RICHARDSON'S CLAIMS

It was claimed by Richardson that the act of the Kentucky Legislature had "gerrymandered" the Eleventh, Eighth and Third districts in violation of statutes of Congress and the constitution. Such discrepancies exist in the appointment. It was claimed, that a voter in the Eighth district averaged in voting more than one and four-fifths times as much as a voter in the Eleventh. At the election in 1908, it was argued before the Supreme Court, the Republicans carried the Eleventh by over 21,000, while the Democrats carried the Eighth by about 1,700, and the Third by about 500. The Kentucky Court of Appeals held that it had no power under the State constitution to review the action of the Legislature in districting the State for Congressional purposes, and it questioned the power of Congress to do so.

Memorial services for two distinguished Lincoln lawyers, father and son, who but recently passed over the dark river of death, were held by the Stanford bar at conclusion of the recently term of the Lincoln circuit court Saturday afternoon. Gathered with the local lawyers were Judge Lewis L. Walker, of Garrard, Commonwealth's Attorney Charles A. Harlan of Mercer, and Attorney Robert J. Breckinridge, and Morrison Breckinridge, William J. Price and Lanier, of Danville, thus giving representation to the four counties of the judicial district, in the tribute paid to the late Judge M. C. Saufley, who sat so long and so ably on the bench of the district, and to his son Geo. B. Saufley, who was making such a brilliant reputation at the various courts.

A number of women were present in the court room to hear the tribute to the memory of this remarkable pair of men, and many spectators sat throughout the ceremonies.

Judge J. W. Alcorn was chosen as chairman of the gathering. Judge Walker spoke first, paying beautiful tribute to his predecessor and his son, and was followed by Judge Breckinridge, who spoke as one of the "old oaks" left in the forest. He had been intimately associated with Judge Saufley throughout their long careers and spoke feelingly. Congressman Harvey Helm drew a beautiful parallel of the lives of father and son. Fountaine Fox Bobbitt paid them high eulogy, and Mr. Hardin spoke touchingly of his intimate association with Judge Saufley when he was on the bench and of the very pleasure it was to have been associated with such a man. William J. Price, K. S. Alcorn, Dr. J. G. Carpenter, T. J. Hill all paid high tribute to the memory of the departed, and Judge Alcorn closed with a feeling tribute to the memory of his life-long friend, and the latter's son. Appropriate resolutions were adopted but space will not permit our publishing of them.

STRIKING FEATURES AT THE WENDLING TRIAL

Wendling shows emotion for the first time since arrested.

Miss Elizabeth Weitzer, aunt of murdered girl, identifies stocking, shoe and glove found with bones, as articles worn by Alma Kellner on the day she disappeared from her home.

Mrs. John Valla Jr., Mrs. Annie Grahl and Mrs. Rose Strubles testifies that Alma Kellner reached St. John's church on December 8, 1909, and swear that janitor was casting suspicious glances at the little girl, kneeling at the altar.

Mrs. Rosa Struble testifies that when she left the church no one was in there but the janitor and the Kellner girl.

Father Schuhmann, pastor of St. John's church tells of the peculiar odor in the church, following the girl's disappearance and says that Wendling explained it by saying, "Me burn old rags in the furnace."

James M. Peyton, a meter inspector for the Louisville Gas Company, swears that Wendling at first refused to allow him to enter music room, under which the mutilated body of Alma Kellner was found, but gave his consent after inspector had threatened to appeal to Father Schuhmann.

Dr. Ellis Duncan, Coroner declares there can be no doubt that the skeleton found in the cellar of the music room was that of a white female child between the age of 6 to 8 years. Dr. Duncan also swears that the body was hacked to pieces and then burned by fire.

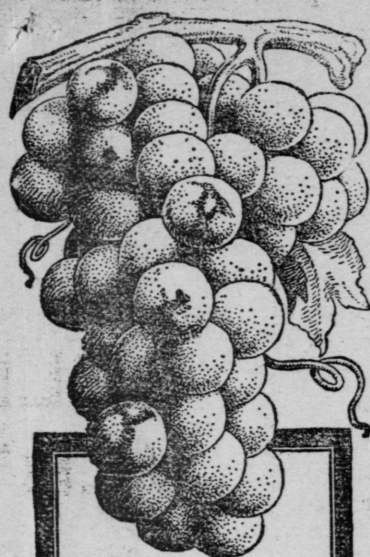

A Missourian who had forty hogs sold them last spring at 95 cents a pound. They averaged 250 pounds apiece, so he received $23 75 for each hog, or $950 for the lot. Now the price has declined to about 65 cents. A consignment of the same size and same average weight would bring only $16 25 each, or $650 for the lot. This represents the reduction in the price of meats from the standpoint of the consumer there is nothing to add to past statements on that subject. While price to the producer has declined to an extent making it keenly felt, the price the consumer pays hasn't declined enough to be perceptible. —St. Louis Republic

The Interior Journal reports two big judgments in the Lincoln Circuit Court against the railroads: S. B. He was killed in the railroad yards at Somerset. Attorneys Harding, Denton, Buren, Rawlings and Purvair represented Mrs. Daniels.

Col. Mose C. Wetmore died in St. Louis as the result of injuries suffered when he was run down by a wagon. He was national Democratic committeeman from Missouri.

Hon Ben Johnson will open his canvass for the Democratic nomination for Governor of Kentucky at Bowling Green on Monday, November 28th. The splendid race he made for Congress at the last election, in which he carried every county in the district by largely increased majorities, demonstrates his popularity at home, and the esteem in which he is held by those who know him best. He is a man of ability and learning and would make Kentucky an ideal Governor—Lebanon Enterprise.

What about that subscription? It is now nearing the close of the year and those we owe expect us to pay them, and we are likewise looking to you for what you owe us. We need the money and we need it badly. If you don't come to town just put a dollar bill or whatever you owe us in an envelope and write your name on a piece of paper and enclose with it addressed to SIGNAL, drop in post office and you need have no fears about it coming through O. K. Let us have your remittance at once for we certainly need it.

Wash Barnet, once a resident of this county, but for several years past, an employee of the North Jellico Coal Co. at Wilton, Ky., was thrown from a buggy last Thursday near the corporate limits of Corbin and was killed instantly. The deceased was driving a pair of two-year-olds, which were not full broke and just as he was entering the town of Corbin they became frightened and started to run. Completely losing control he jumped for his life, but struck on his head on a concrete side walk, crushing his skull and breaking his neck. Two men who were in the buggy with him escaped uninjured. The remains were brought here Friday and laid to rest in the Hansel burying ground Saturday. He leaves a wife and several children.

The State Geological Survey had an expert in here several weeks this summer. On account of the position and prominence, he selected the "Town Hill" as an exponent of a definite and important geological formation. In recognition of some service rendered, he designated the 60 ft. ledge of sandstone, the "Lovell sand" and described it in detail. He also noted a 4 ft. vein of superior plastic fire clay and a 3 ft. vein of fire clay with 14 inches of coal over it, besides a good deposit of ganister. The 14 inch vein of coal will probably run 21 to 23 inches.

By this you see we have all the natural elements grouped together for the manufacture of fire brick. Moreover, practical men say that our sand right here within the corporate limits of the town is first class for the manufacture of common brick, fancy face brick and with the time added, grani-toid brick.

Now, the question is, shall we remain self satisfied and inactive, waiting for strangers to come in and get rich off the things God left in our hands for generations? Unless we improve the talents given us, it will be with us like it was with the poor wretch who buried the talents his Lord had given him—the little we have will be taken from us and given to those who can see a good thing ahead and are willing to work for it.

In Bad Fix

"I had a mishap at the age of 41, which left me in bad fix," writes Mrs. Georgia Usher, of Conyers, Ga. "I was unconscious for three days, and after that I would have fainting spells, dizziness, nervousness, sick headache, heart palpitation and many strange feelings. I suffered greatly with ailments due to the change of life and had 3 doctors, but they did no good, so I concluded to try Cardui."

"Since taking Cardui, I am so much better and can do all my housework."

Take CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

Do not allow yourself to get into a bad fix. You might get in so bad you would find it hard to get out. Better take Cardui while there is time, while you are still in moderately good health, to try to conserve your strength and keep you in tip top condition.

In this way your troubles, whatever they are, will gradually grow smaller instead of larger—you will be on the up-grade instead of the down—and by and bye you will arrive at the north pole of perfect health.

SAVING PART OF YOUR INCOME

Is a good habit, and one that should be cultivated by all careful and prudent persons, but the fact that the comfort of your wife and children is dependent on your earning capacity should not be overlooked, and this earning capacity should be insured for their benefit.

The Participating Income Bond Policy

Affords ideal protection in that it provides—

First—A prompt payment of the amount of the policy in the event of death.

Second—If totally and permanently disabled and your ability to earn a living for your family is destroyed, the company, without cost to you, will keep up your insurance, or will pay the amount of the policy to you in ten equal annual installments.

Third—Should you live to be seventy (70) years old the amount of the policy will be paid you in cash, thus protecting you against poverty and want in your old age.

NEW LAW

GOES INTO EFFECT IN THE FIRST OF THE YEAR—KENTUCKY IS GRADUALLY COMING TO THE FRONT.

Bowling Green Ky.—Nov. 28. Active preparations are being made here for the operation of the Bureau of Vital Statistics law, which goes into effect January 1, 1911. This law provides for the reporting and recording of all births and deaths and the collecting of mortality statistics. It is a department of the State Board of Health and is one far-reaching in its importance to the welfare and lives of the people of Kentucky.

Kentucky has placed itself in the front rank of states doing most for the preservation of health and in the establishment of a Bureau of Vital Statistics she is the first of the entire south to take this long neglected step.

Ohio, Massachusetts, Indiana, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, Maryland, Missouri, California and nine other states have in successful operation such a department for the permanent maintenance of records of births and for a more successful fight against the ravages of disease, by means of the certificates of deaths return to the State office.

The State Registrar, Dr. W. L. Heizer, who will inaugurate and manage the Bureau of Vital Statistics, has just returned from an extended visit in Ohio, Michigan and Pennsylvania and Washington, D. C., where he studied the operation of the law in those states which are declared by Dr. Cressy L. Wilbur, chief statistician of the Federal Government, to be the best in operation in the United States.

Kentucky's Bureau will be a combination of the best features of these states with some suggestion of the Census Department added.

Under this law, before a body is buried the undertaker must procure a burial permit or removal permit, which shall be issued only by the Local Registrar, who will be placed at convenient localities.

This permit can be secured only when a certificate of death has been filled out by the physician, and in the event the person has died of an infectious or communicable disease, smallpox, cholera, diphtheria, scarlet fever, erysipelas before a burial permit is issued the body must be so prepared for burial that there is no danger of a spread of the disease in the community. This not only safeguards the public, but by means of these reports of deaths coming in from all over the State, properly tabulated and classified, the State Board of Health is able to learn the infected districts and spots that need cleaning up. Through its sanitary inspectors and engineer the cause of such prevalence of disease is learned and proper regulations enforced as will stop this needless slaughter of the citizens of the citizens of the Commonwealth.

The entire force of the Bureau and State Board of Health is engaged in appointing suitable men at distances of a few miles over the entire State. These are the Local Registrars, who not only will report births and deaths but arrangements are being perfected so that they will report the cases of infectious and dangerous diseases that occur in the district and which do not necessarily die. When this system is in operation Kentucky will be on an equal footing for procuring these vital facts as the state of Pennsylvania, which spends the sum of $3,000,000 each year for health work.

The Voting Precinct is being used as the unit for the territory each Local Registrar will cover in his reports. When two or more units can be combined to advantage resulting to no inconvenience to the people, this arrangement is made. Already hundreds of acceptances have been received from men all over the State and include bankers, lawyers, teachers, farmers, clerks and in nearly all instances, people who are interested in promoting public health work. It is mainly the work of sending the proper blank and instructions that will occupy the time till the operation of the law on January 1, 1911.

Twenty-five girls are dead, a half dozen are dying and twenty-three are in hospitals as the result of a fire which devastated a four-story factory at Orange and High streets, Newark, N. J. Saturday afternoon. Many of the dead were killed by jumping from the windows and fire escapes and others perished in the flames, their bodies being burned in the ruins when the walls fell. Several firemen were injured in attempting rescue the terror-stricken girls, and every hospital in Newark was filled with victims last night. The fire was caused by an explosion of gasoline.

THE FATHER'S CARE.

Never a sparrow falleth Down through the frosty air, But the loving eye of our Father Marks it with tender care. Never the weakest bidding Cries for his daily bread, But the open hand of our Father Shows him a table spread.

But dearer far than sparrows Are the children of His love; No weak ones are forgotten By the Father heart above. He knows the bitter hunger, He sees there are no united Thousands of His loved ones In need of daily bread.

And He who fed the thousands By Gahlee's blue sea, Sends to His fainting children Portions by you and me Then gladly do His errands, Pass on the Heaven-sent bread, Give freely of your substance, Till all on earth are fed.

Speaking of the twenty million life insurance policyholders in the United States, President George E. Ide, of the Home Life Insurance Company, Saturday urged before the Interstate Commerce Commission that, in its disposition of the pending freight rate increases in Eastern trunk line territory, nothing be done which will strike a blow at railroad securities.
